Preamble

Warren Central School’s Welfare Policy strives to encourage and support students at our school to progress academically and socially within the school environment and in the wider community. Our aim is to develop each and every student’s full potential in a caring and supportive environment, challenging students to strive for the best they can achieve in a wide range of fields of endeavour and building positive and supportive relationships with all members of the school community.

Warren Central School’s Welfare policy is founded upon six Core Values (see page 9) that have been identified through an exhaustive process of community and school wide consultation.

- Respect yourself, others and your surroundings
- Be honest and responsible in words and actions
- Have a go and do your best
- Be an active listener
- Work safely, play safely
- Be proud of our school

Out of these six core values we have developed and implemented two behaviour and merit and systems to guide and support student behaviour and interaction within the school environment:

These two systems are:

- The Raise Responsibility system, which is introduced on page 5.
- The True Colours merit system, which is detailed on page 7.

The application and operation of these systems is the responsibility of all members of staff working at the school however in the end each individual student is responsible for the decisions they make about their progress and behaviour.

Toward the rear of this document you will find a list of suggested strategies to promote good discipline and guide learning (page 16) and the school’s Anti Bullying (page 19) and Uniform (page 24) policies.

Raise Responsibility system

The following is a brief introduction to the Raise Responsibility approach to behaviour modification which is a mandatory approach to behaviour modification currently being introduced to Warren Central School (as of February 2007). In 2007 it is being introduced in Years K-8 with a progressive introduction to the upper secondary school in following years. For further details of the system please consult the Raise Responsibility Resource Guide booklet that has been distributed to all staff and is available from the front administration office.

“People learn best when they feel safe – physically as well as emotionally and psychologically. When people feel anxious or feel that they will be harmend, learning is diminished. This is true of all domains: cognitive, affective and psychomotor. The Raise Responsibility System takes an enlightened approach to behaviour modification. How a person feels has a direct bearing on how a person behaves, and people behave better when they feel good, not bad. The key to effective classroom management is teaching and practicing procedures. This is the teacher’s responsibility. Discipline, on the other hand, has to do with behaviour and is the student’s responsibility.

<td>The hierarchy engenders a desire to behave responsibly and a desire to put forth effort and learn. Students differentiate between internal and external motivation – and learn to rise above inappropriate peer influence.</td>

<tr>
<td>Students reflect on the level of chosen behaviour. This approach separates the person from the behaviour, thereby negating the usual tendency to defend one’s actions. It is this natural tendency toward self-defence that leads to confrontations between student and teacher.</td>

<td>Guided Choices</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If disruptions continue, a consequence or procedure is elicited to re-direct the inappropriate behaviour. This is in contrast to the usual coercive approach of having a consequence imposed. Note: In developing this welfare policy it was felt that a complete abandonment of some form of coercive approach was unrealistic, especially in the early stages of implementation. - The Merit card system will be a means of providing evidence to support an award or nomination. It needs to be emphasised that merit cards are not the only pathway to the award of Gold, Silver, Bronze, Platinum but they form an important role in positive reinforcement of student behaviour. Their award will be ongoing ie. Students will continue to receive Merits for efforts and achievements irrespective of Award level status

All staff are expected to encourage students to be actively and regularly involved in striving for the achievement of these awards. If students are NOT hard working, responsible members of the school community who respect the rights of others, they will be moved through the colours.

Principal’s discretion may be exercised resulting in variations in a student’s progression through the colour sequence. This may occur at any point in the sequence.

The following is a list of the Warren Central School’s Core Values which reflect the expectations our school community has of the students at our school. - Respect yourself, others and your surroundings
- Be honest and responsible in words and actions
- Have a go and do your best
- Be an active listener
- Work safely, play safely
- Be proud of your school
Respect Yourself, Others and Your Surroundings

I have a right to be respected.
So I have a responsibility to respect others, their beliefs and their background.

Therefore I should:
• follow instructions given by the teacher, support teacher, relief teacher or parent helper
• show kindness and consideration to others and not engage in bullying

• not access offensive or pornographic material on the Internet
• not have offensive material or drawings on my pencil case, book or other possessions

Have a Go and Do Your Best

I have a right to learn. So I have a responsibility to allow others to learn, to follow instructions and to complete my work to the best of my ability.

Therefore I need to:
- show sustained application to learning (do my best)
- think about how I learn best
- learn as much as I can about learning independently and cooperatively
- stay on task
- contribute to the group if working co-operatively

- deliver letters, notes, newsletter (Jumbunna) issued by school to my parents.
Be An Active Listener

Therefore I should:

• listen to instructions and follow them whether from the teacher, teacher assistant, relief teacher or parent helper
• ask for help from the teacher or my peers (when acceptable) if I find a learning task too difficult
• wait patiently for my turn when seeking assistance
• wait my turn when talking and listening to others
• listen to others courteously
• either raise my hand or use the method negotiated with my teacher to seek assistance
• listen to what others have to say during classroom discussions without interrupting or ridiculing their responses
Work Safely, Play Safely

I have a right to be safe and secure at school.
So I have the responsibility to behave in a manner that keeps others and myself safe at all times.

Therefore in a practical lesson I need to:

• use equipment correctly and safely
• only use equipment which I am allowed, capable and trained to use;

In general, I need to:

• inform a teacher if I find damaged or dangerous equipment or items
• report immediately all intrusions by potentially dangerous animals and people to a teacher

Strategies to promote good discipline and effective learning

The strategies listed below are not intended to be prescriptive or comprehensive. Rather, they form benchmarks to which teachers at Warren Central School aspire. Also, should good discipline not be evident in certain situations, they form a checklist against which a teacher could compare his/her current classroom practice.
