Dear Parents / Caregivers,

Recently the school presented to the school community and wider community the Positive Behaviour for Learning (PBL) framework which we are going to implement at Warren Central School.

One of the first decisions that we needed to make was the identification of three core values for our school. Through our meetings we identified a large number of possible core values and over 500 people voted for the three core values that they wanted to see implemented. It is with pleasure that we are able to report that the three core values chosen by the school community and wider community are:

- Respectful
- Responsible
- Learners.

Our next step will be to decide what each of these core values looks like, sounds like and feels like in all areas of the school. This information will form the basis of the matrix that will explicitly explain the expected behaviours and consequences at Warren Central School and in the wider community.

Over the holidays we invite students and community members to design a mascot for PBL at our school. The mascot will need to embody our three core values: Respectful, Responsible and Learners. More information on this competition will follow shortly.

We are grateful for the community’s involvement in determining our core values and look forward to working closely with everyone as we continue our PBL journey.

Regards,

Mr William White
